The Sudan Human Rights Network demands the Sudanese authorities to immediately release the detainees or bring them before fair trials. The Network calls upon you to send faxes or emails, whether in English, Arabic or any language to:

- Urge the Sudanese authorities to release all detainees immediately and unconditionally.
- Express great concern regarding the persistent abuses/violations of human rights, and the Sudanese authorities refraining from officially committing to international norms, conventions and treaties.
- Request official assurances on the health and wellbeing of detainees under the appropriate humanitarian conditions; and to grant visitations to their lawyers and families.
- Require international and regional organizations to instantly intervene and appeal to the government of Sudan to stop the abuses against its citizens.
